To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Blisters

The use of cream containing animal grease sometimes causes hair to grow. You run the risk of acquiring superfluous hair when you use ordinary mercurized wax. There is nothing better for a discolored skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle—gradually, gently, so there is no detention indoors and no inconvenience. The discolored complexion naturally is replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy one—full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to get rid of a freckled, tanned, over-ripe, blotchy complexion. Just procure a ounce of mercurized wax at any drugstore and apply slightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few cents will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and its natural luster, brightness, fluffiness, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt, and dandruff.

Even the Roots of Superfluous Hair Vanish

(Entirely New Method; Works Wonders.)

What is the use of merely taking off the hair-ends and not destroying the roots of superfluous hair? Do you know that you can easily and quickly remove the hair ends, including the roots, with ordinary phenol? Just try it! It is odorless, non-irritating, and so harmless a child could safely use it. Far superior to depilatories, electrolysis, etc., it effects the removal of the hair roots at last—before your very eyes.

If Heat Causes Wrinkles to Form, Try This

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of pure powdered saxolite dissolve in a half-pint of witch hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making the entire complexion and underlying tissues much firmer. The ingredients of course can be obtained from any drugstore.

1,200 FARMERS ATTEND MEETING JACKSON, TENN.

Reports on Marketing of Hogs Forms Feature of Second Day of Big Institute of West Side Counties.

JACKSON, Tenn., Sept. 3. (Sp.)—When the West Tennessee Farmers' Institute was called to order by President Frank Griffin, of Tiptonville, this morning at 8 o'clock in the second day's session there was an attendance of 1,200 representing every county in this section. Many came in on the night train, and it is expected that others will arrive later today.

The outstanding feature of today's session will be the address by Gov. A. H. Roberts to be delivered tonight at the courthouse. Yesterday was devoted mainly to a discussion of community development, there being a number of addresses by R. S. Fletcher, R. A. Hurt, and other Madison countyans. Madison county is said to be the best developed in West Tennessee from a community standpoint.

The feature of the morning session today was reports of county agents on co-operative marketing of hogs. E. S. Roberts, of Lauderdale county; W. A. Owens, of Fayette county; and W. M. Landless, of Shelby county, led in the discussion, the purpose of which was that the farmers had found it very profitable to market and ship as a body. The highest hog prices in the history of the county were recently realized on the St. Louis and Chicago markets, it was shown.

"How Henry County Sheep Men Sold Their Wool," was the subject of an address by County Agent J. A. Patrick. C. E. Brehm, of Knoxville, discussed "The Profit That Comes From Grading." The program for this afternoon is as follows:

1:15 p. m.—Percheron sale.
2:15 p. m.—Farm Tenant Systems for West Tennessee—Discussion led by E. R. Lloyd, director farm bureau, Memphis. The speaker will discuss the work of the Agricultural Extension, Knoxville.

PREDICT END OF ACTORS' STRIKE IN 24 HOURS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Settlement of the actors' strike within 24 hours was confidently predicted today by members of the Actors' Equity association.

While no formal announcement was forthcoming this morning from either the managers or the officials of the actors' association, those who believed the end of the controversy was at hand based their hopes on a report that the managers' association by a vote of 28 to 16 decided last night to accept recognition to the Actors' Equity association, the principal point at issue, and that the Actors' Equity league, the rival to the equity association, had temporarily ceased its campaign for membership.

100,000 CONSIDERED AS DESERTERS BY HUNS

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—Nearly 100,000 officers and men are considered deserters from the German army during the war, according to Munich advice. Included in this number are many thousands who were in America and England and were prevented from joining the German army, "although advised before hand to join the colors," the dispatch says.

Switzerland leads the neutral countries with 40,000 deserters. A proclamation of amnesty to these men has been issued if they will return to Germany this year, but many former German soldiers in this country refuse to go back. The amnesty proclamation does not apply to those accused of treason.

PERORING'S BACK TO THE RANKS

Rumored Presidential Boom of A. E. F. Commander Revived—Find Possibilities in Proposal.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Special Correspondent of The News Scimitar.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Gen. Pershing's departure from France, the victorious commander of the greatest expeditionary force in American history, has put forth the possibility of the political camp here—and for reasons that present an amusing paradox.

The Democrats are now in a position to present a candidate for president there may be derived at least the pleasant advantage of pointing with pride to the commander-in-chief of America's biggest army as a Republican.

But if Gen. Pershing has any political ambitions, he must acquire strength on the basis of his accomplishments in France—and just now many committees of the Republican congress are busily engaged in investigations designed to prove that the Democratic administration made more or less of a fiasco of everything connected with the war. Also there are those in congress who want to see the whole American venture in France exposed not merely as a military failure, but as a political disaster.

It is not for the fact that the father-in-law of Gen. Pershing is a Republican, there would not be any ground at all for supposing that the general himself is a Republican. Indeed, his intimacies with Secretary Baker and the living President Wilson himself has for the general might have been sufficient to disqualify him for membership in the Republican fold as membership is required heretofore.

Information on the subject of Gen. Pershing's political predilections that sundry states have been furnished to the Republican congress, there might be an opportunity to receive him into the dominating arms of the Democratic brethren.

But the underlying belief is that Gen. Pershing is a Republican, and that if he were to be a candidate at all it would be on the Republican ticket. Add to this the fact that much rivalry exists between Gen. March, chief of staff, who ran things at the war department, and the overseas commander, and the possibilities of still blaming the Democratic war department and exalting the Republican commander in the field are not deemed in the least absurd by the congressional or political mind in search for candidates for 1920.

Of one thing, however, congress has shown an intention—and that is in Gen. Pershing's determination to stand up for the A. E. F., all along the line. He is not a man who is likely to be intimidated by the idea of testifying before a committee in France headed by a man who voted against war, then enlisted, and now is in a position to inquire into the conduct of the war itself. Nor will the general relish other investigations into decisions that had to be made on the field of battle and in hours of great uncertainty when the sacrifice of men as well as money were considered.

From such letters as the general has written to friends here, it is gathered that he believes the American people cannot be fully informed as to what has happened in France, and that he is in sympathy with ineffectual efforts based upon the demands of party politics. Moreover, the general is a man who is prepared to defend the court-martial system as essential to discipline. His trip to France, it is believed, will probably be in the nature of a triumphal return has in it political possibilities for an emotionally inclined crowd, and the wisest heads in the political parties believe America has had a surfeit of emotion and that the wisest candidate would not be popular.

Certainly Gen. Wood's boom, which has been the subject of much comment, is a thing that the Democrats because they didn't let him go overseas, has a bearing on Gen. Pershing's determination to stand up for the A. E. F., all along the line. He is not a man who is likely to be intimidated by the idea of testifying before a committee in France headed by a man who voted against war, then enlisted, and now is in a position to inquire into the conduct of the war itself. Nor will the general relish other investigations into decisions that had to be made on the field of battle and in hours of great uncertainty when the sacrifice of men as well as money were considered.

PEOPLE WILL GET ACTION ON PHONE RATE CONTRACT

Hundreds Sign Petitions Demanding That City Administration Submit Question to Voters in Referendum.

Hundreds of persons already have signed the petitions demanding a referendum vote on the contract agreement, made virtually in secret, between the city administration and the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company, for increased rates, although the petitions were not circulated until about noon on Tuesday.

The people generally were asleep when the increased rate contract was slipped through the city commission, but a good many of them have been awakened to the fact that the Cumberland system and the other public utilities are never asleep and have to be watched night and day, if the people's rights are to be protected.

The rate agreement, which was rushed through without any publication, and which gave to the Cumberland system a 10 per cent increase in rates, was signed by representatives of the Cumberland company, as a matter of course.

The remedy possible to the people now is to sign the petitions demanding a referendum vote, and to insist that the mayor and city commissioners call the election provided for in such matters by the city charter.

The city administration had every opportunity to prevent the war rates from being permanent. The state utilities commission was ready to issue an order preventing the rates from being put in effect the moment the control of the wire companies passed from the government to the private hands at midnight July 31.

The thousands of protesting against the increase in rates, the city administration filing the petition in the courts in the names of a number of subscribers. But while the people of Memphis were resting under the impression that some similar action would be taken as to bills for the months after public utility rates were raised, the city administration was quietly making arrangements to continue the war rates for practically two years.

Italian King Will Turn Over Estates To Help Soldiers

ROME, Sept. 3. (By the Associated Press.)—King Victor Emmanuel has decided to surrender all the crown properties in favor of the peasants and for national work for former soldiers. Premier Nitti, at one of the first sittings of parliament which is to be opened today, will make this announcement.

The crown property of Italy is larger than that of any other country since the House of Savoy inherited the properties of the rulers of the eleven states into which Italy was divided before the kingdom became united.

During the war the king gave over his splendid royal palace at Caserta, the castle of Moncalieri at Turin, and the use of his soldiers. His intention now is that the vast lands which he possesses, virtually in every region of Italy, shall go to the peasants who fought in the war, while his palaces, castles and other buildings shall be utilized for philanthropic purposes.

In addition the king has expressed a desire that his private patrimony be taxed like that of any other citizen. Thus the king's civil list, amounting to about $3,000,000 yearly, will be done away with or greatly diminished, as the monarch used it almost entirely to administer the crown properties or for charitable purposes.

EGYPTIANS JOYFUL AT U. S. SENATOR'S ACTION

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Great enthusiastic demonstrations were held at Cairo and Alexandria Saturday and Sunday in connection with the action of the Egyptian national parliament in declaring that the foreign relations committee of the United States senate had without incident and defeated the Egyptian national parliament in that country.

No action has been taken by the foreign relations committee of the senate regarding Egypt, that would seem to warrant demonstrations in that country. The committee recently gave a hearing in which the claims of the Egyptian nationalists were voiced but no further action has been taken by the committee.
